

HUBER EXPLAINS INVESTIGATION OF CORPORATIONS

No Prosecutions Can Follow Unless Funds Are Actually Paid for Wrong Use

Regarding the investigation of the purported acts of corporations in seeking to make contributions through officers as individuals, as published in yesterday's Star-Bulletin, District Attorney Huber stated today that the offense is not completed until the contributions are actually made.

If any corporations have voted new salaries or raised salaries with the understanding the individuals would contribute and if these concerns would rectify their mistakes, and see that no contributions would be made, there would be no prosecution, Huber adds.

"If any corporations have started this system they will have an opportunity to avoid prosecution," he added. "If they would cease their operations the matter of prosecution would be dropped then and there."

Huber says that he does not understand any political organization has yet begun to gather in its campaign funds; nor does he believe that any local corporations have made contributions. "As I take it," he states, "some of the corporations are merely getting ready to make contributions this fall. This opinion, however, is based on information which has come to me. Contributions might be made by individuals while, as a matter of fact, they would be the contributions of corporations made through officials."

Attorney Huber points out that all corporations organized in the territory since annexation come within the provisions of the act being used as the basis of the present investigation.

"My idea would be to wipe out this system, if it is actually in operation," says the district attorney, "and thus do away with having to bring the matter into the courts."

temple, as the heads of stones which generally mark the wrecked helms of ancient days are not easily accessible.

"Mr. Forbes assured me that he would do everything in his power as a government official and the machinery of the territorial government to put through such a village as we discussed, make the Ala Moana drive one of the attractions of Honolulu, and to see that the beach is vastly improved," said Secretary Taylor. "The proffered assistance of Superintendent Forbes is extremely valuable to this movement, and I can now see that Hawaiian village matter will soon be under way. The Promotion Committee and tourists want such an attraction. They look for it and ask for it, and I believe that within a short time the movement for its establishment will be under way."

candidate nor attempt to refute our arguments relating to Roosevelt as the candidate who could unite both parties."

His report recommended, as did Smoot's, time for further conferences "this afternoon or evening."

Governor Hiram Johnson of California declared: "The Republicans accept our issues and they admit in conference that they have no man to suggest except Roosevelt," and this stirred the convention to applause. He again declared that he would stand to the end "for one man and one man alone—the greatest American!"

BOHRAH'S APPEARANCE A SENSATION.

Without preliminary announcement of any sort Senator Bohra of Idaho entered the hall at this moment. Immediately he was recognized, surrounded by cheering, excited delegates and escorted to the platform, where Chairman Robbins called on him for a talk, in response to cries from hundreds of delegates.

He was given a great ovation when introduced. He said he had not come officially and then shouted:

"I will say frankly that I came here to get inspiration."

At this a mighty wave of cheering swept the hall, suggesting that stranger events than harmony, with Bohra as the man to unite both parties, might happen.

When Bohra mentioned Roosevelt, the enthusiasm started afresh, with even more vigor than previously.

"There isn't a doubt that you want Roosevelt and that millions want him," said Bohra. "But let us bear in mind that what these two conventions do will perhaps decide the welfare of the United States for a quarter of a century."

"We can only insure ourselves by cooperation. I do not discourage your loyalty to Roosevelt, but it should be definitely determined that we march and fight together. If the two conventions agree upon your leader you will find no more enthusiastic supporter of him than myself."

The hall hummed with tumult and mingled shouts for Roosevelt and Bohra, and when the Idaho senator departed many shook his hand.

The Progressive convention then adjourned until 3 o'clock.

DROP OF STOCK RAPID AS WAS ITS ADVANCE

Mineral Products Loses Gain of Early Week; Day in Market is Dull

Mineral Products has declined with the same rapidity that it advanced. Early this afternoon it was quoted at $110 in various brokers' offices and this was the asking price. Yesterday afternoon it was quoted as low as $10.20 and today witnessed the further drop of 10 cents per share. The reason sometimes assigned is that the report to the directors' meeting was not so favorable for early important production by the company as purchasers of stock had expected. But the decline has not been marked by such heavy transactions as occurred during the advance.

Ola furnished the most interest in the day's trading. It opened at $28, which was 12 1/2 cents lower than yesterday's session price. This price held till the session when it rose to $28.75 and there closed. Generally it was a dull day and listed security transactions totaled only 1090 shares. Twenty thousand dollars in San Carlos 6s also changed hands at par.

Mrs. J. B. Guard was matron of honor, and Miss Violet Atherton and Miss Letitia Morgan were bridesmaids. Harold Morgan was best man. A reception was held after the ceremony, the beautiful Atherton home being brilliantly lighted for the occasion.

HAWAIIAN QUINTET VOTED FAVORITE AT LOMPOC CHAUTAUQUA

Hawaiian Day at the Lompoc, Santa Barbara County (California) Chautauqua was the biggest drawing card of the week, and the Kekuku Quintet was voted by season ticket holders the favorite troupe of all those that played during the week, according to the Lompoc Journal of May 28. The Journal carries a three-column cut of the quintet on the first page and devotes the greater part of its story of the chautauqua to praise of the five boys and of the illustrated lecture delivered by Fred J. Halton, coast representative of the Promotion Committee, on the beauties of the islands.

LOS ANGELES FOLK STOP HERE ON WAY TO ORIENT

Where people on the way to the Orient formerly passed the Hawaiian Islands with hardly a glance, they are now more and more stopping off here for a few days, at least, of sight-seeing. When the Tenyo Maru leaves San Francisco June 10 for Honolulu and the Orient she will bring a party of Los Angeles folk who are on the way to Japan, China and the Philippines, and who will stop here for an extended automobile tour about Honolulu.

In the party there are Miss K. Burke, Miss M. Burke, Dr. and Mrs. J. O. Hurlbert, Mr. and Mrs. James Kirkpatrick, Miss Edith Ware, Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Wright, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Walters, Miss Alice Mason.

Another party from Los Angeles will leave San Francisco on the Shinyo Maru, July 3.

ORDERS OF POLICE JUDGE MUST HAVE DUE RESPECT

"Monkeying" with the court doesn't go with Judge Monsarrat and Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth. George Smith was summoned into court for contempt this morning and was very forcibly informed not to do it again.

Smith recently brought charges of assault against Henry Waloli. The trial was to be yesterday, but Smith did not appear to testify against Waloli, thinking, so he admitted, that the case would be dropped if he did not come. Subsequently he had asked Prosecuting Attorney Chillingworth to drop the case but had been refused and told to come to court and ask there on the stand that it be dismissed. A bench warrant was issued for him.

PRICE OF SCHOOL SUPPLIES RISING TO LARGE FIGURE

Cost Increase Among Reasons Given By Local Dealers for Advance

School supplies, like sugar stocks, have gone up in price—not only paper, but crayons, erasers, rulers, pointers, yard sticks, chart paper and blotters.

The sudden sharp rise is evidenced in the department of public instruction's call for bids for supplies for the school term which opens next September. Bids were opened today, but no contracts have yet been awarded.

One local concern bidding, while it guaranteed to furnish the supplies needed if awarded the contract, stated that the prices quoted could stand for only seven days from today, a rise in the price of all articles being expected daily.

This concern gave as its reasons for the expected advance in prices the present disturbed condition of the paper market, the continued increase in the cost of all articles wanted by the department, the difficulty in getting supplies from the coast owing to both shortage of stock and congestion of traffic, and the risk of shipping being held up on account of strikes.

It is expected that the contract will be awarded early next week.

PREPAREDNESS PARADE SUGGESTED AT MEETING

A preparedness parade within the next few weeks was prophesied by Ed Toive at a meeting of the board of retail trade of the Chamber of Commerce yesterday afternoon. He laid no stress on the prophecy, but said he was sure that public opinion would demand an expression soon and the parade was sure to be held.

"Pennies" was one of the main topics under discussion at the meeting. It was suggested at the last meeting that they be introduced by the retail merchants here, but yesterday they were declared unnecessary and a bother. One member of the board told of importing a thousand of them 15 years ago, only to dispose of them as souvenirs—one with each package of washers sold.

Several other minor topics came up for a short discussion, but there was no action on them by the board.

PEOPLE SHOULD PAY TAXES NOW, SAYS COLLECTOR

"Doctors and dealers in narcotics who write out prescriptions with narcotics in them, for even a day after June 30, are liable to prosecution under the law," said Collector of Internal Revenue John F. Haley this morning, "unless they have registered in this office."

Before registering, doctors must file an inventory as to the amount of narcotics on hand, after which their registration certificates will be given them. These cost $1 each.

Under the emergency tax, which must also be in by June 30, for the six months following that date, tobacco dealers must pay $2.40. Income taxes, too—in fact, all taxes collected at the office—are payable up to the last day of June.

"We are hoping here that people will not put off this taxpaying business," says Mr. Haley. "It is a matter of law, and should be attended to without delay. Even if people wait until the last day or two, and then come in to pay, they will be inconveniencing themselves and the office, for that will mean a big rush at the last moment and a great deal of waiting on the part of the taxpayers. Much better to 'do it now.'"
